

CONFLICT MANAGEMENT

If you can change one thing in the Education system what would that be?

Group discussion

DIFFERENT VIEWPOINTS

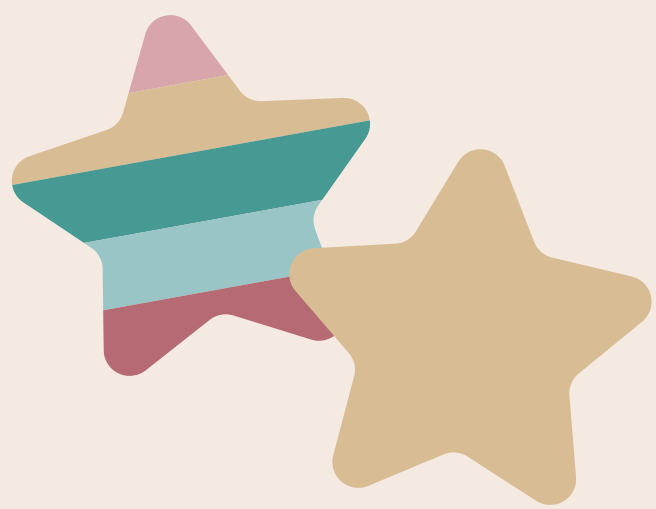

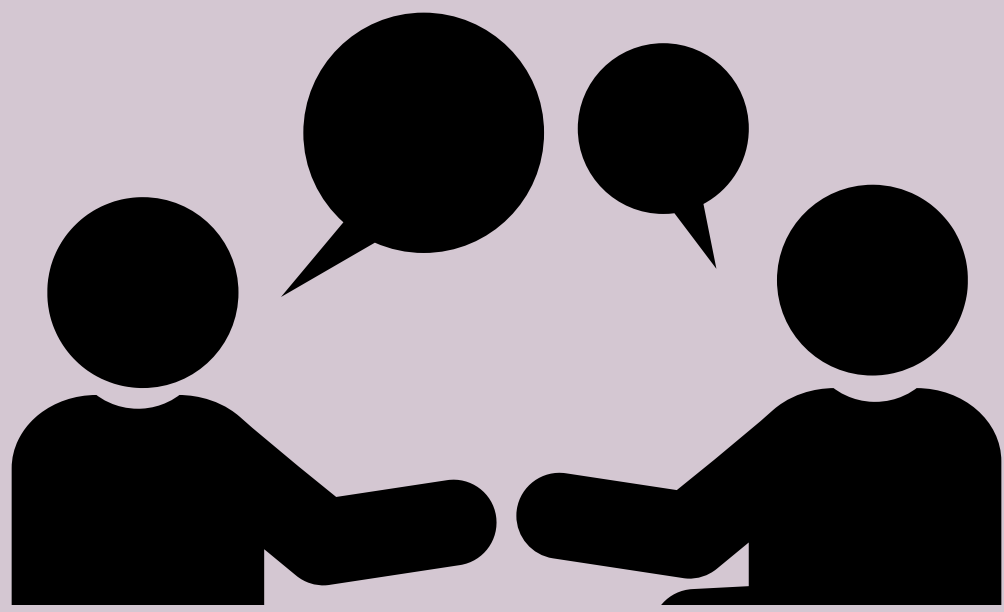

Our group shared varied ideas on changing the education system, including practical learning, camps, fun-based education, and changes in examinations.

DISAGREEMENTS

Conflicts arose around feasibility, funding, time limits in exams, and oral assessments. Each idea had valid advantages and limitations.

RESPECTFUL COMMUNICATION

Instead of arguing, we explained our perspectives calmly, listened actively, and used examples to support our points.

1

1. Understanding Others
I clarified my idea of camps as skill-based learning rather than syllabus completion, which helped reduce disagreement.

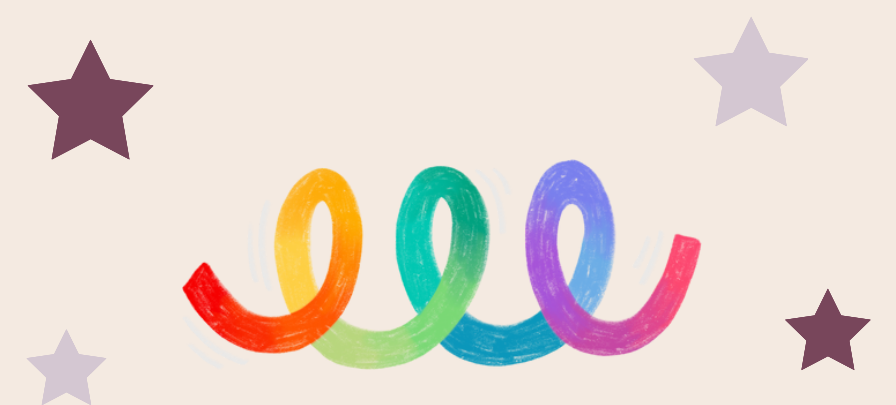

2

2. Logical Reasoning
I opposed oral exams by explaining issues of fairness, articulation pressure, and time constraints.

Strong communication turns conflict into understanding

OUTCOME OF THE DISCUSSION

Through discussion and mutual respect, we reached shared understanding even when opinions differed. The experience highlighted the importance of collaboration, compromise, and open-mindedness.

Skills Developed

Communication • Conflict Resolution •
Critical Thinking • Teamwork